

SHARE YOUR NATIVE FOOD RECIPES
WITH TUNDRA TIMES READERS

The Tundra Times is starting a new project for 1985, and its success will depend on our readers.

We want to publish sometime in the future, probably in 1986, a cookbook of Alaska Native foods, and we need some recipes from every region in the state. If you have a favorite recipe, please share it with everyone.

Individuals, groups, communities, and school classes may participate in this project. We would like you, however, to identify the region and include some historical comments about the recipe if you can.

We are told that in some areas, "akutuq" or Eskimo ice cream is made with certain rituals such as the person making the dish cannot look at it while mixing it. That is the type of comments we would like included with the recipe.

We would also like to have a black and white photograph of whatever Native food is being written about. If a photograph is unavailable, we could use art work just as well, or both a photograph and art work.

Alaska Native foods are very popular, and we know a cookbook would be well received by our readers.

FOR PEOPLE WHO THINK THERE'S MORE TO LIFE
THAN A PAYCHECK.

If you're in a two-year college and haven't decided what's next, or you're in a job that's boring you to tears or kind of at loose ends, there's something you ought to investigate. The tons of opportunities in the Army.

Not just the skills (there are over 300 to train in), but the lifestyle and excitement. The chance to travel, to become fit and trim, to exercise your mental muscles as well as the physical ones. To do things you wouldn't believe you could do. To be proud of yourself and your country.

And the paycheck isn't bad.
