

Contest features footwear

The Decorated Moccasin is an international footwear competition open to Native craftspeople throughout Canada and the United States, according to the Department of Interior's Indian Arts and Crafts Board.

A total of $6,000 in cash prizes will be awarded. The six competition categories are based on types of decoration, which include quillwork, beadwork, moosehair tufting and/or embroidery, thread embroidery, ribbonwork and painted or pigmentation.

The competition is being sponsored by the Canadian Native Arts Foundation and the Bata Shoe Museum Foundation.

The deadline for entries is May 31.
