

English prohibited at this UAA camp

Alaska high school students will be able to practice French with students from France at the University of Alaska-Anchorage's second annual French Camp July 19 to 26.

The UAA Office of Continuing Education will sponsor the French Camp for high school students at Birchwood Camp, near Chugiak High School.

The camp features a one-week intensive language program. French will be spoken at all times. Camp activities will include hiking, swimming, canoeing, volley ball, horseshoes, baseball and hayrides.

The students from France will be sponsored by Rotary International in France. After the week spent at the camp, the students from France will be hosted by Anchorage Rotary families.

The deadline for the camp was earlier this month, but late registrations will be considered. The camp costs $300, in addition to a late-registration fee.

Those who want more information may contact the UAA Office of Continuing Education, 3221 Providence Drive, Anchorage 99508; 786-4779.
