

The "Huslia Hustler," George Attla, endorses Melvin Charlie for the State House of Representatives

DISTRICT 16

PLEASE VOTE FOR
MELVIN CHARLIE

Pd. by Committee to elect Melvin Charlie

Fraudulent Agents—

Bogus Employment Agents Recruiting

Senator Stevens notified the Justice Department that fraudulent employment agents are recruiting south 48 workers for pipeline construction.

Stevens pointed out that persons representing themselves as agents of Alyeska Pipeline Service Company have contacted truck drivers, heavy equipment operators and construction engineers in several states offering work on the trans-Alaska pipeline.

These individuals reportedly offer, in some cases for a placement fee, a guarantee of a job on the pipeline.

Communication with Alyeska Pipeline Service confirmed the growing proportions of this activity.

Senator Stevens requested that Alaskans inform their relatives and friends in the south 48 of this type of illegal activity.

He said that anyone in the south 48 encountering people claiming to be agents of Alaska business corporations should check their references with the home office of that company before paying out employment fees or moving to Alaska.

'The Art of Hunting for a Job' Course

Oct. 20 through Nov. 24.

FAIRBANKS — A noncredit short course in THE ART OF HUNTING FOR A JOB is being offered to the public through the University of Alaska's Division of Statewide Services in cooperation with the Fairbanks Manpower Center. The class will meet from 4 to 5 p.m.,

The course is free and is scheduled to meet in Room 211 Duckering Building, on the University of Alaska campus. Those interested may register by calling the Office of Short Courses, 479-7221.

Tiny Tammy Ortega Overwhelmed

Tiny Tammie Ortega was overwhelmed last summer when she was chosen in the Cooperative Job Education Program at Highlands University as a summer intern to work in the office of her Congressman Manuel Lujan in Washington.

"After all," she explained later, "there are not that many people from Guadalupita, New Mexico, who get to go to work in Washington."

But this turned out to be only the beginning of a rewarding summer for the 21-year-old senior at Highlands University in Las Vegas, New Mexico.

No sooner had she felt that her feet were really touching Washington soil than the second wave of dreamland struck her a call to go to work at the White House.

"I could not believe that all of these things were actually happening to me in the span of a few weeks," she recounted in the Old Executive Building before returning to Highlands University to obtain her degree in journalism.

During the summer she not only got the opportunity to personally observe the workings of the office of her Congressman but to work in the Office of Communications Director, Herbert Klein.

"I know there must be many journalism students in this country who would give their right arm to work in the White House, so I know that I am very lucky," she said.

But it wasn't all luck that got Tammie in the White House. Shortly before Tammie came to Washington, Mr. Klein had taken a history-making step in his office by adding Carlos Conde to his communications staff.

Mr. Conde, the first Spanish speaking person to serve on a White House staff, coordinates information on Federal activities to the Spanish-speaking media.

So when Tammie's application was reviewed, she was a natural. Tammie assisted Conde in preparing and disseminating information on Spanish-speaking activities.

"We didn't select Tammie primarily because she was a Mexican American although that certainly turned out to be an asset," said Ken W. Clawson, Deputy Director of Communications for the Executive Branch. "We selected her because she had ability and enthusiasm for the job."

Tammie also worked with Office of Communications staffers on the preparations of press briefings, involving such personalities as Dr. Henry Kissinger, Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs, Secretary of Commerce, Peter Peterson, and Miles Ambrose of the White House staff for Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

HE'S DOING
WHAT'S RIGHT
FOR ALASKA

... For Alaska's People
... For Alaska's Land

He's doing a lot,
He's doing it
extremely well,
and your vote will help him
do even more, even better!

the name on the ballot is

TED STEVENS

... but you'll be voting for Alaska!

Pol. Ad Pd. by Stevens for '72 Committee, Andy Milner, Chmn.