

---

Walrus, the Old Man of the Arctic, probably has the thickest skin of any animal in the northern regions. The thickness measures from an inch to about an inch and a half.