

ANF presents "Broken Rainbow," Oscar-winning documentary

The Alaska Native Foundation proudly presents the 1985 Academy Award winning Documentary Feature "Broken Rainbow" at the 4th Avenue Theater Sunday, May 4, at 5:00 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m.. This is the first and only time it will be shown in Alaska!

This award winning film has its own original song written and performed by Laura Nyro, and Indian activist, singer and songwriter Buffy Sainte-Marie delivers a powerful voice as translator throughout the movie. Other talents featured in this film include Martin Sheen as narrator, Burgess Meredith as historical voice, and Ali McGraw as production consultant. This award winning feature was masterfully produced, written, and directed by two women, Maria Florio and Victoria Mudd.

"Broken Rainbow" is a compelling human drama about generations of families faced with alienation from their lands and striving valiantly to retain their way of life they have lived for thousands of years.

This story focuses on the Big Moun-tian people, 10,000 Navajo-Indians faced with a relocation deadline by July 8, 1986 in order to make room for energy development.

"This is another opportunity to look at human rights, a chance to take either the right road, or the wrong road...This move would bring the Navajo from independent self-sufficiency to welfare, potentially costing the American taxpayer $2 billion," quotes Jeff Bridges, Indian actor and activist.

This film is a must for all Alaskans who want to call themselves well informed about land issues. Issues brought out in this film are vital and current to the land issues in Alaska. Any Alaskan who cares about the future of Alaska and the issues that will shape the future of Alaska must see "Broken Rainbow."

This Alaska premiere is a fundraising event for the Alaska Native Foundation in conjunction with the Alaska Native Leadership Project.

Tickets are available at the Alaska Native Foundation, 733 West 4th Avenue, ste. 200, Anchorage. Admission is $10 for adults and $5 for students and elders.
