

Alascom Brings You Earthshaking News.

In Alaska, information about disasters ranging from earthquakes to power failures is monitored and broadcast to the public by the Alaska Division of Emergency Services.

Alascom's statewide network of earth stations ensures that these vital communications get to the areas where they're needed, without wasting a second.

We keep every Alaskan community in touch with the world, night and day.

And we're the only long-distance company that does.

The Best Long Distance Choice. ALASCOM
