RURAL ALASKA HEALTH PROFESSIONS FOUNDATION REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

The Rural Alaska Health Professions Foundation (RAHPF) is requesting proposals for financial support of projects in the general areas of health professions recruitment, training, continuing education, retention, health care education and systems development.

The Foundation's mission is to improve the health care system in rural Alaska by increasing educational opportunities for rural health care providers and to recruit residents of rural Alaska into the health care professions. The management agent for RAHPF is the Rural Alaska Health Education Center (RAHEC) which is located on the University of Alaska Fairbanks campus and leases through the University of Washington School of Medicine in Area Health Education centers in Montana, Idaho and Washington. RAHPF's operating funds are obtained through grants from the Division of Medicine, Department of Health & Human Services, Bureau of Health Professions.

RAHPF is requesting that proposals for funding be submitted for projects in six areas:

1. Recruitment and facilitation of rural Alaskans into health care occupations.
2. Development of high school enrichment programs for students interested in health careers.
3. Development and coordination of activities which assist the transition of a student from a rural high school into an urban university.
4. Development of rural training sites for Alaska health care students.
5. Development of continuing education opportunities for currently practicing rural Alaska health care providers.
6. Health care systems planning and development by rural Alaska communities.

*Eligibility Guidelines

Any nonprofit corporation, institution, educational or governmental entity licensed to conduct business in the state of Alaska is eligible to apply. If requested, RAHEC may offer limited technical assistance during the application process.

Fiscal Information and Project Funding Limits
Total funds available for federal fiscal year 1989-1990 grants are estimated at $50,000. Awards will be targeted not to exceed $20,000.

DEADLINE FOR APPLICATIONS IS FEBRUARY 22, 1990.

PRESIDENT UNIVERSITY OF ALASKA SYSTEM

The Presidential Search Committee of the University of Alaska invites nominations or applications for the position of President of the University of Alaska system. The President is the chief executive officer of the system and reports to an eleven member Board of Regents.

The University of Alaska is a statewide system of higher education comprised of three multi-campus universities with extended satellite colleges and sites throughout Alaska, providing educational services to urban and rural populations of diverse cultural backgrounds. The system's administrative center is located in Fairbanks. The university is both a land grant and sea grant institution with strong state and federally funded research programs, many with outstanding international reputations. It has extensive programmatic and research relationships with Pacific Rim and other nations.

The university completed a major restructuring of its academic units in 1987 and expects to continue the operational implementation of that process during the tenure of its next President. Desired characteristics and qualifications include:

Academic & Administrative Leadership

- willing to support and facilitate the multiple missions of the university ranging from developmental education through graduate programs and research
- supportive of building high quality in each of the university's mission areas
- able to maximize the unique global position and potential of Alaska through the educational and research programs of the university
- experienced in managing and leading a complex organization
- able to coordinate educational and administrative activities spread over a vast geographic area and reflecting wide ranges of economic and cultural diversity

Resource Acquisition

- effective in obtaining funds through public appropriations process
- supportive of individual and institutional efforts to secure external funding
- able to enhance the continued development of the University Foundation

Effective Communication

- able to plan and implement responses of both short term and longer term university needs and to enhance the university's organizational and educational restructuring
- able to communicate effectively the status and image of the university through presentation and publication of its accomplishments
- able to appreciate, value and enhance the involvement in higher education by people of different cultures and heritages

The Presidential Search Committee will begin to review credentials on February 1, 1990. Applicants should submit a current resume and a letter discussing their qualifications for the position to:

Mr. Herbert C. Lang, Chair
Presidential Search Committee
University of Alaska
Suite 202A, John Burroughs Building
910 Yukon Drive
Fairbanks, AK 99775-5280

The anticipated date of the appointment is July 1, 1990.

The University of Alaska is an EEO/AA Employer and Educational Institution.
