

ICC 1983 meet needs entertainment

A Cultural Evening will be held in July 1984 at the Anchorage Sheraton for participants of the International Circumpolar Health Conference.

There will be representatives from all of the circumpolar countries who will come together to share some of our Alaska Native culture.

Organizers are hoping for at least one group from each of the 12 regions to dance, sing or otherwise share some special part of their culture with visitors from other countries.

The Circumpolar Health Conference is held every three years in a different country, and in 1984, it will be Alaska's turn to host the conference. More than 700 participants are expected to attend.

At this time there is no funding available to pay groups to participate and the conference will have to depend on the regions or other sponsors to pay their way in.

If you would like to be considered for the entertainment program, please send your name and the name of everyone in your group and a brief description of what type of entertainment you have in mind to the Conference Cultural Evening Chairman, Dr. Ted Mala, PO Box 101279, Anchorage, Alaska 99510.

Be sure to include a phone number at which you can be contacted. Deadline for submission of names is Oct. 1, 1983, although we would appreciate your letter as soon as possible.
