

Think about it . . .

"We have the will, we have the means, and we have the strengths. Together, we must act -- united as Native people, united as Native corporations, united as tribal organizations and governments -- in concert -- Sharing our Future, Sharing our Commitment, and Sharing our Responsibilities. Only then will we prevail to ensure the survival of our cultures for the next and future generations of Native people. This is our strength."

Rosita Worl, 1993 AFN Keynote Address

"There are few outstanding things we have to be extremely protective of - our own growing children and the wildlife resources in fish and game and their habitat. Without these, some of us wouldn't be here today."

Sidney Huntington, Galena
