

Yukon Press Club Gives Scholarships

Two $400 journalism scholarships at the University of Alaska were announced this week by Dr. William R. Wood, president of the university, and UA's Department of Journalism.

The scholarships will be presented this spring to Alaska students by the Upper Yukon Press Club, based in Juneau.

Ward Sims, chairman of the club's scholarship committee, said the grants "will apply to those students interested in print or broadcast journalism, including photography and advertising."

The press club has asked the journalism department to recommend three prospective candidates for each scholarship, with need as well as academic record considered. The club will make the final selections.

"Because legislators from all sections of the state attend this event, we felt it only appropriate that the scholarships be offered on a statewide basis to residents of Alaska through the University, rather than limiting them to graduates of Juneau-Douglas High School."

Prof. Jimmy Bedford, head of the Department of Journalism, responded: "We hope that these are the first of many scholarships that will become available for University of Alaska students majoring in journalism."

Attractive Local Indian Lady Baffles Editor on Enrollment

The Tundra Times office had a most unusual experience last week. It left the editor of the newspaper in a tizzy and left him wondering whether he had done the right thing.

An attractive Indian lady here in Fairbanks came in to pick up three or four enrollment forms for herself and her children. The newspaper office is currently passing out the forms for the purpose of recording the native people of Alaska in a roll in the event compensation for lands come about in the future.

The lady picked up the forms and was about to leave when she hesitated. She seemed to be in serious thought for a moment and then said haltingly:

"Um—I'm pregnant. Could it—my child—be counted also?"

She took the editor by surprise and he didn't know what to say for some moments.

"Well," he thought to himself, "the land claims will not be settled within the next nine months, or even in less time than that."

"I guess that would be alright," the editor told the lady and handed her another form.

Later on, he contacted President Emil Notti of the Alaska Federation of Native s in Anchorage, whose organization is handling the enrollment, and told him what had happened.

Notti, small statured but a dignified youngish man, began to titter over the phone.

"That's fine," Notti said, "but I think she should wait until the baby is born."

At the moment, the consensus of the Tundra Times office is that the attractive lady is most forward looking and prepared to take care of the future for her children.

No human being is constituted to know the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth; and even the best of men must be content with fragments, with partial glimpses, never the full fruition.

WILLIAM OSLER

State GOP to Hold Convention

Robert A. Davenny, Republican State Chairman, announced the appointment of the following persons to the Arrangements Committee for the Republican State Convention to be held in Ketchikan, Alaska on May 9, 10 and 11, 1968.

Mr. R. E. "Bud" Steffen, District Chairman for the Southeastern District will chair the committee which will be composed of the following persons:

R. E. Steffen, Ketchikan—Chairman

Mrs. Martha Reid, Petersburg

Mrs. Jan Craddick, Juneau

Jack Reekie, Ketchikan

Mrs. Wilma Rhodes, Juneau

Des Moore, Ketchikan

Mrs. Sally Polley, Juneau—State Vice Chairman

Mrs. Doris Barnes, Wrangell—Republican National Committeewoman

This Committee will choose the sub-committees for banquet, decorations, housing, transportation and hospitality.

"We anticipate the largest Republican State Convention ever held in Alaska. Ketchikan will be host to 500 enthusiastic hard-working Republicans. It is our feeling that 1968 will be 'Another Republican Year,' Davenny said.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES

If you qualify for any of these jobs, or are looking for a job, contact the ALASKA STATE EMPLOYMENT SERVICE, located at 6th and Barrette, in the State Court and Office Building, Room 131. Their hours are from 8:30 to 12 noon and one to five in the afternoon, Monday through Friday. Call 452-1501.

MEDICAL TECHNOLOGIST—Saturday and relief work, permanent, must be registered or graduate of lab training course.

INVENTORY CLERKS—Literate, good speaking voice, temporary

NEWSPAPER CARRIERS—Develop routes and deliver papers, able to work before school and week ends

DAY WORKERS—Own transportation

BABYSITTERS—Live in and out, permanent, mature woman preferred

PINSETTER, MECHANIC—must have experience on Brunswick equipment

UPHOLSTER—Male preferred, journeyman preferred but will train applicant with some experience

BUS DRIVERS—19 years of age or older, good driving record, valid Alaska driver's license, permanent, part time

LOGGING TRAINEE COURSE: Six weeks, Ketchikan, starts February 5, applicants must have a sixth grade education; for further information contact the Alaska State Employment Service, Sixth and Barrette.

INTERESTED PARTICIPANTS — Not only the THEATA Club members took part in the education discussion with Commissioner Hartman, but there were other interested participants. Left to right: Khatanga Heitmann, a member of Vic Fisher's Staff along with Jane Sutherland shown in the front picture; Dr. Hugh Fate, education consultant to the Fairbanks Native Association; Mrs. Nettie Peratovich and an unidentified student. In the background are Leo Brown, Deputy Commissioner of State Labor Department, and partially hidden is Olson of the university.

—Staff Photo

NOT REALLY SLEEPING — Woodrow Morrison, Jr. of Hyaburg in Southeastern Alaska, second from right, is not sleeping at all. He was one of the most active participants at the education discussion with Commissioner Hartman. The camera caught Morrison just as he blinked his eyes. At far left is Sandy Irvin, a researcher from the University of Northwestern; an unidentified Eskimo college student; and Reva Wulf on the far right, the president of the THEATA Club who conducted the discussion.

—Staff Photo

LIGHTER MOMENT—Reva Wulf, second from right, is finding something amusing during education discussion at the Sub Lounge of the Constitution Hall of the University of Alaska. John Angaiak of Tununak, a student, agrees.

—Staff Photo