PUBLIC NOTICE

The Elihu Foundation Charitable Trust is soliciting proposals for the 1997-1998 funding period. Elihu is intended to assist Native American/Native Alaskan, women and minority groups in social and community economic development. Projects will be funded for a period of three to five years at less than $10,000 per year, with the goal of becoming self-sustaining or establishing alternative support to continue beyond the initial funding period. Preference will be given to innovative or alternative approaches in addressing existing and emerging challenges faced by small city and rural community groups.

All projects should be confined to the State of Alaska. The deadline for receiving applications for this funding year if June 1, 1997.

For more information, the 1994-95 annual report, or grant application materials, please write The Elihu Foundation Charitable Trust, c/o Jack Egan; McKenna, Storer, Rowe, White and Farrug; 200 N. LaSalle Street, Suite 3000, Chicago, Illinois 60601-1083

NATIONAL COOPERATIVE BANK

Partners in Innovation with Alaska Native Organizations

Jake Adams, President, Arctic Slope Regional Corporation, Barrow, Alaska

NCB first partnered with Arctic

Slope in 1992, financing the Eskimo Building, (shown left).

In 1995 Arctic Slope expanded its operations and NCB was there to provide financing.

From Barrow to Portland, from a simple building to the acquisition of a high-tech thermoplastic

components manufacturer,

NCB and Arctic Slope have a history of being great partners.
