

Diverse Reactions to Superdude

Superdude John Wayne's now-famous "Playboy" interview earlier this month in which he called Indians "selfish" for trying to keep their lands and "whining and bellyaching" when they lost it provoked diverse reactions.

Samples:

"All of a sudden I don't like him anymore. I'm really hurt," said NCAl's education specialist Ann Lambert. "To me he used to be THE man-but no more."

Said another observer:

"In these days when everybody is feigning interest in Indians, it's refreshing to have somebody REALLY speak his mind."

Alaska Native Population Increases

Alaska's Native population has increased by 12,000 or 23% during the last decade according to the 1970 U. S. Census. The white population grew by 62,000 persons or 36%, spurred by a net immigration of 14,000.

The native population showed a natural increase (new babies) of 20,000 but an outmigration of 8,000. The number of Natives who left the state during the decade is equivalent to 15% of their 1960 population.

The report notes a significant difference between the two racial groups in elderly population growth. Among the whites this age group increased 22% while the Natives increased 43%. (Perhaps less natives go to Florida to retire).

The total population of the state grew from 226,167 in 1960 to 302,173 in 1970.

The census also showed that, while overall population increased by 33%, housing units increased 35%. The median value of owner occupied housing rose from $9,100 to $22,700 (150%).

The average rent increased from $110 to $171 during that time.

WILDERNESS:

Wilderness that's only a distant spot on a map can't be enjoyed.

That's why we've spent more than a half century working to make Alaska a wilderness to enjoy. Better. Better for sportsmen. Better for our wildlife.

Over the years we've rehabilitated lakes, built recreational cabins and fostered the creation of wildlife refuges. And more.

We don't try to move mountains by shouting. But we do want to quietly stand back and look at them. We do feel it's a way of renewal, a joy that should be available to everyone. Forever.

Our quiet way works. We've built an organization of several thousand that has a record of solid accomplishment. Our strong, clear voice is heard by all levels of government. And our opinions are needed.

You can make your voice heard too. Join us in our efforts to make Alaska better. Better for wildlife. Better for sportsmen. Better for Alaskans.

And because it's non-seasonal, when it snows it becomes a snowmobile; when it rains it's a boat; when it's put in the mountains it becomes a burro; when it's hunting season it transports hunters into once inaccessible territory. Which means that it's a swampbuggy, a dunebuggy, and a ryotherbuggy. Come see it today.

Last fall, Alaskan students from 39 locations in the state traveled more than 54,000 miles to study at SJC in Sitka. The 120 full-time students enjoy a student to faculty ratio of six to one. The professional instructors carry on no research; they are free to pursue what they like best—teaching students. In class, in the hallway, over coffee in the teacher's home, the learning process goes on...in a very personal way.

Sheldon Jackson College may be the college for you, too. Write today for more information.
